COURSE CALENDAR DESCRIPTION
This course introduces students to critical reading, critical thinking, and academic writing through the study and application of the principles of university-level discourse.

COURSE DESCRIPTION
English 100 focuses on expository writing. Students examine methods for discovering and arranging ideas and consider ways in which audience determines style.

PREREQUISITES

LEARNING OUTCOMES
Upon successful completion of the course, which includes timely submission of all assignments, students will be able to

- perform university-level critical analysis of texts by identifying, evaluating, and debating authors’ controlling and supporting ideas, dominant rhetorical patterns, tone, context, and features of style
- understand and apply a university-level writing process involving pre-writing, planning, drafting, conferring, revising, editing, and proofreading
- develop and defend a thesis, using appropriate language, rhetorical patterns, and evidence
- write in a prose style appropriate to the genre of the academic essay
- analyze, synthesize, interpret, and evaluate source material
- apply APA-style documentation and formatting to a document

COURSE FORMAT
Reading and preparation should be done at home, prior to discussion in class. English 100 involves short lectures, class discussions, reading aloud, and groupwork. Frequent private consultation with the instructor and visits to the Writing Centre are strongly recommended. All course notes, presentations, handouts and links will be posted on Moodle after class.

ASSESSMENTS

Attendance
Attendance is crucial. Discussion and participation are particularly important in English 100, so you are expected to attend regularly and punctually. If you miss a class, it is your responsibility to find out what you missed and to complete any work assigned.

Assignments
The written assignments for this course consist of a short writing reflection, one ‘classic college essay’ (6 to 7 total pages) with accompanying short assignments handed in at different points in the writing process, and a research paper (9 to 11 total pages), also with short assignments to be handed in earlier for feedback. You will also be graded on the completion of 5 online discussions throughout the term.

Tests
There will be a mid-term timed writing exam during the term as well as a final exam scheduled during the exam period. There may also be unannounced short reading and lecture quizzes throughout the semester to keep you on your toes!

Note on Submitting Assignments and Late Assignments
Assignments are due by 11pm on the due date and are to be uploaded to our Moodle course site. Be certain to click the submit button and accept the submission statement.

After 11pm on the due date, the paper will be considered late and will be deducted 5% every day for a maximum of 5 days. After this point, assignments will no longer be accepted. Get ‘em in on time!

TEXTBOOK
There is an optional text book for this class which I encourage you to buy as a reference for all your college writing assignments. However, all class readings will be posted on Moodle.

_They Say/I Say: The Moves That Matter in Academic Writing_ (Fourth Edition) by Cathy Birkenstein and Gerald Graff (available at the bookstore)

ACADEMIC AND STUDENT CONDUCT
Information on academic standing and student rights and responsibilities can be found in the current Academic Regulations that are posted on the Student Services/Admissions & Registration web page.

PLAGIARISM
Plagiarism is a serious academic offence. Plagiarism occurs when students present the words of someone else as their own. Plagiarism can be the deliberate use of a whole piece of another person’s writing, but more frequently it occurs when students fail to acknowledge and document sources from which they have taken material. Whenever the words, research or ideas of others are directly quoted or paraphrased, they must be documented according to an accepted manuscript style (e.g., APA, CSE, MLA, etc.). Resubmitting a paper that has previously received credit is also considered plagiarism. Students who plagiarize material for assignments will receive a mark of zero (F) on the assignment and may fail the course. Plagiarism may also result in dismissal from a program of study or the College.

YUKON FIRST NATIONS CORE COMPETENCY
Yukon College recognizes that a greater understanding and awareness of Yukon First Nations history, culture and journey towards self-determination will help to build positive relationships among all Yukon citizens. As a result, to graduate from ANY Yukon College program, you will be required to achieve core competency in knowledge of Yukon First Nations. For details, please see www.yukoncollege.yk.ca/yfnccr.

ACADEMIC ACCOMMODATION
Reasonable accommodations are available for students requiring an academic accommodation to fully participate in this class. These accommodations are available for students with a documented disability, chronic condition or any other grounds specified in section 8.0 of the Yukon College Academic Regulations (available on the Yukon College website). It is the student’s responsibility to seek these accommodations. If a student requires an academic accommodation, he/she should contact the Learning Assistance Centre (LAC) at (867) 668-8785 or lassist@yukoncollege.yk.ca.

Grading System for English Essays

<table>

<tr>
<th>GRADE</th>
<th>Grade Point Value</th>

<th>Essay Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A+</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>95-100</td>
<td>Excellent: An A paper is of outstanding quality in almost all respects. It has a clear, original, and engaging thesis that responds thoughtfully to the assignment. The essay is logically, coherently, and effectively organized. The author uses appropriate and compelling evidence to support the thesis with correct referencing and documentation. The paragraphs are unified—internally and externally—coherent, and have vivid topic sentences. The paragraphs are connected with smooth transitions. The prose is clear, smooth, and consistently grammatical. The essay is mechanically perfect or nearly so.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>86-94</td>
<td>Good: The B paper is an above average performance but falls short of the A paper in some significant way. While the thesis statement is good, it may have some minor problems, may be difficult to find, or may lack originality and insight. There may be a problem in organization or the order of the argument at one or two points in the essay. Although the paper may have minor weaknesses in paragraphing, it will contain evidence of the writer’s ability to organize information into unified and coherent units.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A-</td>
<td>3.7</td>
<td>80-85</td>
<td>The essay is well-organized and demonstrates a good understanding of the topic. The prose is clear, concise, and well-written. There are occasional mistakes in grammar or spelling, but they do not detract significantly from the overall quality of the essay. The essay meets the minimal requirements for a passing grade.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B+</td>
<td>3.5</td>
<td>75-79</td>
<td>Satisfactory: A C paper has a thesis, but the thesis may not be stated, may be poorly stated, may be commonplace, or may not deal completely with the assignment. Evidence may be lacking, inappropriate, or inconsistently used; it may have significant referencing errors. The paper will generally use language accurately.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>70-74</td>
<td>Evidence is appropriate and supports the thesis and is correctly referenced and documented. Although the paper may have minor weaknesses in paragraphing, it will contain evidence of the writer’s ability to organize information into unified and coherent units.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B-</td>
<td>2.7</td>
<td>65-69</td>
<td>There may be issues of style. Text may be wordy, repetitious, vague, overly formal, or too informal. It may lack structure, pronoun errors, or modifier errors. It may lack sentence variation or parallelism. There may be mechanical and grammatical errors sprinkled throughout the text.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C+</td>
<td>2.5</td>
<td>62-64</td>
<td>Satisfactory: A C paper has a thesis, but the thesis may not be stated, may be poorly stated, may be commonplace, or may not deal completely with the assignment. Evidence may be lacking, inappropriate, or inconsistently used; it may have significant referencing errors. The essay may indicate definite weaknesses in analytical thinking, and ideas may be underdeveloped. The writer’s control of language may be uncertain. The essay will generally use language accurately.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>58-61</td>
<td>The essay will be organized and paragraphed well enough to allow the reader to move through it with relative ease, although there may be some disjointedness and lack of focus.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C-</td>
<td>1.7</td>
<td>55-57</td>
<td>The essay may contain errors in sentences (fragments, run-ons, and comma splices), in punctuation, and in usage. However, the errors are not so frequent or large to distract the reader from the content of the paper. In an essay that might otherwise be a B, sentence and grammatical errors may warrant a C grade.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>50-54</td>
<td>Meets Minimal Requirements: This essay may be missing a thesis or indicate serious problems in formulating the thesis. The essay may miss the basic demands of the given assignment. There are serious problems in the essay’s organization and development: the essay may seem chaotic at times. Evidence may be missing or inappropriate. The essay may indicate definite weaknesses in analytical thinking, and ideas may be underdeveloped. The writer’s control of language may be uncertain. Usually, the D paper indicates a combination of problems: serious errors in reasoning, little or no development of ideas, lack of control of language, and many errors. Serious and frequent errors in usage, sentence structure, and mechanics interfere with the essay’s readability.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>F</td>
